$1.50 IN ADVANCE

But Mostly In Oxford County

Dr. William B. Lapham in his history of Bethel tells the public a little about the first Calvinist Baptists of the town, or when it was a plantation before it put on the robes of a town organization. It seems the Baptists of East Bethel—few in numbers and far between—got into Blue in advance of the Congregationalists and organized a church society in 1795 and had preaching but “there was no increase and at the end of seven years the society numbered only two.” In that year two were added. In 1803 the society consisted of six when the Lord’s supper was indulged in the first time. Then there was a “revival,” and in 1805 an act of incorporation was obtained from the Massachusetts legislature, the name of twenty-seven appearing upon the record pages. Rev. Ebenezer Bray was the first settled minister, who remained five years, under whose ministry twenty-nine were added to the church society who was followed by Rev. Arthur Drinkwater, then Elder Daniel Mason came from Freeport, at which place he was ordained October 9, 1811, and there commenced his labors in the ministry. In 1817 he appears upon the records at Middle Intervale in Bethel, the Rev. Robert Mitchell taking his place in Freeport, the year Elder Mason appears in Bethel. The dates stating when he left Freeport and when he appeared at Middle Intervale conflict slightly but this does not change the fact that in early manhood he was a manual laborer at coopership but feeling called upon to preach the gospel of Christ entered the vineyard though ill prepared from the study of books.

It is stated in the Bethel history that Elder Mason had two wives, by the names of Robinson before his appearance in Bethel, but when asked whether or not the same persons were the same, he said, "No."

CHILDREN'S DRESSES

They are made of good materials, not skimmed in any part; trimmings are dainty and of good quality. And you can buy them now for less money in most cases than you could make a similar garment for at home. In fact, nine out of ten women would not bother to make them when they can get such pretty ones as we offer at a small cost.

CHILDREN'S DRESSES, good as mentioned in Berwick, Gingham and Perale, in stripes and broken checks, neatly trimmed bias material, piping and Hamburg, size 2 to 6 years, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

CHILDREN'S DRESSES, large size of Gingham and Perale in stripes and checks, trimming of plain bias material, Hamburg and piping, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

MISSSES' AND JUNIORS' DRESSES

There has been great difficulty in getting ready-made dresses to fit the young lady from 13 to 17 years, but now we have an unusually choice assortment of entirely new garments that will certainly please you.

DRESSES $1.75 good quality Perale in neat broken checks, has Dutch collar, cuffs and belt of plain color, buttons down the entire front.

DRESSES $1.95 of Gingham in broken checks trimmed around neck, cuffs, belt and down entire front with two inch band of plain color, four inch stitched band around bottom.

VALUE OF THE FAMILY MEAL. An Important Factor in the Service of the House.

Attention has been called recently to the need of training parents. And this need has been emphasized by evidence of the undermining or disintegration of the home. The family is the social unit, and in the family the obligation of the parent is paramount. God "placed the solitary in families," before he placed them in churches. It is in the family that we first learn and under the happiest auspices, to live as social beings. The aim in the home, therefore, should be to live as a social group and not simply as individuals. All that cultivates this recognition of social relations in the home serves to make the individual a better member of general human society later on.

In these days the failure to recognize the social relations of the family is all too common. Each is inclined to go his own way. The father gives himself to business, the mother is responding to social engagements, or to the exigent demand of women's clubs; the children are off to school or to the playground. None of these occupations is evil in itself. But while we do these things we need sometimes to consider what has been left undone. One way to counteract this individualizing tendency is for parents to recognize and to emphasize the family meal as a social occasion. This is the occasion when the family is most likely to be together. Here, then, the effort should be made to live together. But at this meal too often each arrives at a time which suits the individual convenience and each leaves when he or she has eaten enough. The family dining room is degraded into a quick-lunch restaurant, where each hurries in to get something to eat and hurries out again.

When Jesus would feed the multitude in the wilderness he did not allow them to crowd around the baskets like pigs in a trough in order greedily to grasp doles of bread and fish. He commanded that all should sit down in companies. When order was secured, having lifted up his eyes to heaven, in recognition of a power without whose co-operation the earth would not have yielded her increase, He blessed and broke the loaves. Then he gave to his disciples and the disciples gave to the multitude. Similarly it can be done the second course of fish. There was an orderly service of a social meal, and not simply a hasty doling out of food to hungry individuals.

The value of a social meal is too often overlooked. It is there that children naturally acquire their manners; it is there, too, that parents are relieved from the pressure of the hygienic of their individual life, as they enter into social fellowship with their children. It is there that individual greed is checked, and the rights of others come almost unconsciously to be recognized. And it is there that ideals are modified and may be elevated. Conversation should be free.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

With the Panama Canal nearing completion, Col. Goethals being authority for the statement that "by January, 1915, anything that boats can pass through the Canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans," interest is on the increase in all the Atlantic and Pacific coast cities to get ready for the added trade expected.

New Orleans is the latest municipality to feel the influence of an all-water route from the coal fields of Alabama and is preparing to grapple with Pennsylvania for the fuel market on the lower Mississippi, so that when the Panama Canal is an actuality it will be in a position to take care of the increase in trade its position rightfully commands.

What has been a dream for a generation or more on the part of the people of New Orleans, cheaper coal, has become a realization through a new water route just opened which taps the coal fields of Alabama, this new waterway being accomplished by the recently deepened channels through the Tombigbee and the Alabama rivers into Mississippi Sound and thence to New Orleans by a short cut through Lake Borgne and the canal connecting the lake with the river.

While the first shipment was small, it is confidently believed it is the forerunner of millions of tons of coal and marks the accomplishment of one of the most important commercial achievements in the southwest since Ende cut his channel through the shifting bar at the mouth of the Mississippi.

For the purpose of accomplishing just such improvements as the all-water route from the Alabama coal fields to the Gulf of National Rivers and Harbors Congress was formed and it takes to itself some of the congratulations in the crystallization of a sentiment that has made this improvement possible.

The longest and loudest wail of distress heard by the new Democratic administration has reached Washington from thousands of small cities, villages, hamlets and other centers of rural America. It is a cry of protest against the action of Postmaster General Burleson in abolishing the back-stamping of letters.

Formerly a postmaster was required, as soon as he opened a mail bag, to stamp letters on the back with the date and hour of arrival and then to sort them for delivery. Mr. Burleson thought this practice consumed too much time and he ordered it omitted. The complaints invariably have been to the effect that village postmasters are holding back the mail of their business competitors or their political or personal enemies. When back-stamping was required, a postmaster could not withhold mail without being convicted by the silent testimony of the date.

Uncle Sam is, after all, a good and wise employer, notwithstanding the "kicks" that are heard from some of his employees throughout the dominions over which his flag flies. The Reclamation Service, which is changing the waste places of the United States to gardens of great promise, has adopted the idea of providing amusement and entertainment for the thousands of employees under its supervision by introducing into the camps moving picture shows, thereby giving to those who are employed upon his varied projects such recreation and diversion as the normal body needs in its hour of relaxation.

Under the provisions of the 8 hour law the laborer's time on a government job is divided as follows: 4 hours work, 8 hours play and 8 hours sleep. In order to promote a feeling of contentment among the people thus cut off from the rest of the world, consideration must be given to matters of a social nature and your "Uncle Sam" has solved the problem of mind rest by creating a hall where evening lectures are given, papers and magazines are on file and the "movies" are shown to keep the employees in touch with the outside world it is doing. The expenses of the show and the cost of the equipment are reimbursed from the admission fee, which is nominal, and all profits accruing are invested in new attractions.

On the Rio Grande project in New Mexico the moving picture show is operated in connection with the regular Texas bi-weekly circuit and as the performance in March the daily attendance was in excess of two hundred.

Worms in Children.

By Dr. True

If mothers only knew the tortures the little ones may suffer from worms! Thousands of children have stomach worms or pin worms and their parents do not know it. They doctor them for other ailments.

Signs of worms are: Indigestion, with a variable appetite; abnormal craving for sweets; nausea and vomiting; swollen upper lip; sour tongue; offensive breath; hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; face at one time flushed, then pale and in a few cases the face takes on a dull leaden hue. Eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids; itching of the nose; itching of the rectum; short, dry cough; pricking of the teeth; little red points sticking out on tongue; starting during sleep; slow fever; pulse quickened and irregular; body maybe hot; and often, in children, convulsions. Don't delay! Delays are dangerous. Give the children at once some of Dr. True's Elixir. Directions on the bottle. Sold by all dealers at 25c, 50c and $1.00. ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Maine's showing as an industrial state during the decade covered by the last census was very gratifying. The total number of establishments in 1909 was 3,596, employing 88,476 people and 479,599 horsepower. Capital invested in these enterprises amounted to $202,260,000 and the value of the products for the year was $176,029,000 of which $78,025,000 was added by manufacture. In the five years from 1904 to 1909, the number of spindles in the textile mills increased by 154,594, and the number of looms, 2,473. In 1909 Maine produced 217,281 tons of paper and in 1908, 574,315 tons. In the lumber industry there was a gain during the ten years of 41.7 per cent. in the rough lumber sawed, and 55.1 per cent. in the production of lathes. In the last five years of the decade, the canning industry showed a gain of 90.4 per cent., and the value of farm property increased 62.8 per cent.

The biggest sheep farm in New England is Long Branch farm in Bowdoinham, where 450 sheep were wintered. The wool clip this spring was 2,734 pounds. Sheep farming in Maine can be made a profitable industry, although there is mighty little of it done compared with 25 years ago.

The slowish fishing season of Newcastle practically ended Saturday, when the steamer stopped running from the sea into Damariscotta pond. The town of Newcastle and Nobleboro own the fish privilege along the streams running from the sea into the fresh water pond, and as the fish make their way through the locks into the pond they are dipped out in nets. About 200,000 fish were captured this year. The net profit to each town amounted to about $1500 but the catch was smaller than usual.

I had displacement, backache and pains when standing on my feet for any length of time, when I began to take the medicine, but I am in fine health now. If I ever have those troubles again I will take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. E. D. Pearson, 816 High St., Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin.

Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had organic displacement and bearing down pains and backache and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends."—Mrs. ABRIEL LAWSON, 125 Lippitt St., Providence, R. I.

Larger catch would have been reported, she having got it around a school containing at least 100 barrels when it gave way, most of the fish making their escape, less than 40 barrels being secured.

The record of the monthly operations in the Panama canal was broken in May, when over 1,000,000 cubic yards of earth were removed from the two entrances. The greater amount was taken out at the Atlantic end, consisting in large part of salt washed into the canal by ocean currents.

Harry H. Smith of Bangor has been appointed to the position of state bank commissioner. The appointment is made by Governor Fisher to take effect June 20, Mr. Smith succeeding Hon. Robert P. Dutton of Belfast, who was appointed to the position in 1911. Mr. Smith has been an active candidate for the position and was endorsed by a large number of prominent men. Mr. Smith was born in Massachusetts and was educated at Phillips Andover and the University of Maine, graduating from the latter institution in the class of 1893. He was prominent in athletics at the University and was captain of the baseball team. He was for a while in business in Aroostook county and then in the employ of the Eastern Manufacturing Co. in the coat department. For some years he was clerk of the Maine State Highway department and for five years past he has been eastern Maine representative of the Bradstreet Mercantile agency. Mr. Smith has been prominent in local politics and a member of the Republican city committee. He was formerly interested in militia matters and was captain of Co. G. N. G. S. M.

Maine, long famous for her production of hay, ice, potatoes and scenery, has now become one of the chief sources of the telephone supply. The mineral is used largely in the manufacture of pottery, enamel ware, enamel brick and tile and electrical ware. Cheap grades are sold to makers of empty wheels, opalescent glass and roofing material, or turned into pottery grit. New York led in 1912 by producing 22,193 short tons, valued at $101,525, but the Pine Tree State was a close second with 19,691 tons. The remainder of the total for the country, 25,549 tons, came out of Maryland, Pennsylvania, California, Minnesota, North Carolina, Virginia and Vermont.

One of the largest sums ever paid for a farm in Somerset county was paid by Frank Corlette of Frenchville for the Harlan Ellis farm in Embury. The price paid was $9,000. It contains 385 acres and probably has the best set of farm buildings in the vicinity. The house is equipped with every modern convenience. The new owner will run a dairy farm and will keep 50 head of cows. His property was not sold. The farm has been owned by Harlan Ellis for many years.

The Spiny collection of Maine birds has been added to those in the state museum and now with the exception of a few, the museum has an exhibition practically all the birds in the state. The collection was made by Captain Herbert Spiny during the years he was keeper of Sanguin light and the greater part of them were gathered on the island, though some are foreign birds. There are about 200 birds in the collection and were collected during a period covering about 20 years. A good many of them flew against the lighthouse during migration and were killed. Many of the birds in this collection are extinct in Maine or extremely rare, which renders the collection of double value to the state.

"If the world is coming to the United States for shoes, according to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, which declares that about 100 countries and dependencies are buying that class of merchandise here. In the fiscal year ending with this month it is estimated that the sale of boots and shoes will total $20,000,000. In 1900 only $5,000,000 worth left these shores and in 1890 less than $1,000,000 worth. The importation into the United States will be only about $250,000.

Captain Ronald Amundsen, the discoverer of the south pole, is touring the United States and Canada and will arrive at lectures and show motion pictures at City Hall, Portland, June 23. An invitation has been sent by the committee of arrangements to Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, who is in Europe, but who is expected to be present to greet Captain Amundsen and welcome him to his home city.

George Fred Williams, a Democratic leader and twice candidate for Governor, and Mrs. Frances Ames Hopkins of Brookline, were married at the home of relatives of the bride in Hingham, Mass., June 14. The bride was formerly Miss Barrett of New Ipswich, N. H., and she resided during her first marriage in Dedham, the home of Mr. Williams.

Alphens G. Rogers, for 35 years treasurer of the Maine Savings Bank, Portland, died, Saturday night. He was born in Boston in 1843 and when very young was adopted by his uncle, Charles Rogers of Portland. He leaves a wife, a sister, and two nieces.

Amos F. Gerald of Fairfield, one of the pioneers of electrical development in Maine, and the man to whom the State owes the nuclei of most of its later urban roads, died at the Maine General hospital, Saturday evening, of apoplexy. He was 71 years old. He is survived by a wife, granddaughter and two sisters.

No Saccharin in Clicquot Club

A lb. of Saccharin, worth 60c, sweetens the same amount of Ginger Ale as a barrel of Sugar, worth $16.

Therich, heavy syrup used in Clicquot Club Ginger Ale is made of pure granulated sugar refined especially for us. Cheap ginger ale is usually sweetened with saccharin (unless forbidden by State laws), tastes accordingly, and has no more body than the water of which it is chiefly composed.

Clicquot Club Syrup is made of pure sugar and imported ginger root of the finest quality.

Summer Places Wanted

Each year more and more summer sojourners from all over the country are seeking pleasant spots in New England, and patronizing well-managed hotels and the pleasantly located boarding places and farms where paying guests are received.

Each season thousands of people turn to the advertising columns of the Boston Evening Transcript, where so many announcements of summer places are published.

Many families prefer to lease farms, houses or cottages in the country. Hundreds of properties are sold every season to parties from Eastern and Western cities who are attracted by advertisements in the Transcript.

If you desire to reach the well-to-do people and attract them to your town insert a well-worded advertisement in the Boston Transcript.

Full information, rates, sample copies and advice cheerfully given on request.

BUCKFIELD.

The track team of the high school landed in second place at the meet at Norway, Saturday, making a very creditable showing. What pleased the people here more than the winning of points was the gentlemanly bearing of the Buckfield boys throughout the day.

Pastor F. M. Lamb preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning before the class. The church was decorated with evergreens and potted plants. The music was by a male quartet.

A horse belonging to H. D. Irish became frightened near the railroad station Monday afternoon and ran away. No one was hurt, but cream cans, seats, robes and blankets were scattered broadcast and two wagons were more or less damaged.

The new road machine purchased by the town has just arrived and been put in commission by Mr. Beever on Friday, in the western section of the town.

Herbert Hall of Malden, Mass., has been calling on friends here for a few days.

Mrs. Alfred Irish of Sumner was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cole, Wednesday.

Mrs. Martha Libby of Brunswick is with her sister, Mrs. Alfred Shaw, for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tuttle of Bridgton are at Mr. Chas. Tuttle's.

The "graduating exercises of the Buckfield High School were held at the 'Old Church on the Hill,' Friday afternoon. A large number of interested people were present and the members of the class of 1913 acquitted themselves with great credit to themselves and to the teachers and school, and were fully up to the high standard of excellence established by preceding classes. The program follows:
